My Day Has Order · 40 minutes · whole class, then groups of 4 · fully unplugged

Goal	I can put my morning in order.
Core parts	Move + Code
Key words	morning · routine · order · before · after
Materials	Morning cards (wake up, get dressed, walk to school), one set per group of 4; “bath” card for Stretch; masking tape row 1 → 2 → 3 by the floor grid; cardboard Ayo and a box (optional)

1. Watch (5 min)

- Show: the three cards in the wrong order: walk to school → wake up → get dressed.
- Say: “Oh no! Ayo’s morning is mixed up. He walked to school before he got dressed!”
- Ask: “What must come first?” Move the cards as children answer, until the order is right.
- Talk: “What do you do in the morning before school?” Take 3–4 answers.
- New words with hand signs: before = thumb points back over the shoulder · after = hand points forward · routine = roll hands (“every day, same order”).

2. Do in groups (25 min)

a) Act out the morning, whole class (8 min) · Core: Move

- Say: “Let’s do Ayo’s morning!” Show each card and act: wake up (big stretch) → get dressed (pull on a shirt) → walk to school (march on the spot).
- Do it twice. Stretch: add “bath” (scrub arms) as a 4th step before getting dressed.

b) Program Ayo’s morning, groups of 4 (12 min) · Core: Code

- Roles: one card layer lays the 3 cards in the taped row; two Ayos act them out; one checker points to each card and says “first, next, last”.
- Swap roles until everyone has laid the cards once.
- Expect: most groups put “wake up” first. Watch for “walk to school” before “get dressed”.

c) Activity Book page (5 min)

- Number the 3 morning pictures 1, 2, 3. Not marked.

3. Share (10 min)

- One group programs Ayo’s morning for the class to watch.
- Ask: “What do you do before you get dressed? What do you do after?”
- Create (if time allows): draw your morning in 3 boxes: first, next, last.
- Build (optional): stand cardboard Ayo on a box beside the card row.
- Close: “Our mornings have an order. That order is our routine.”

Common mistakes

- Mixing up before and after → use the hand signs; “before” always points back.

- Ayos act all three cards at once → the checker points to one card at a time.

What if it doesn’t work?

- Roles are too hard for a group → the teacher becomes the checker.
- No printed cards → draw the three pictures on paper, or children act them and hold up fingers 1, 2, 3.

Support and stretch

- Support: start with 2 cards (wake up, get dressed), then add the third.
- Stretch (optional, never assessed): order 4–5 pictures (add bath, brush teeth).

How we check

Observation only. Tick each child who puts 3 daily-routine pictures in order and acts them out.

> Safety
> Large cards only. Keep a clear space for acting; march on the spot. Nobody stands or climbs on Ayo’s box.
